NATIONAL WAR FINANCE COM.

"The objective for the Province of Alberta for the Seventh Victory Loan, the campaign for which opens on October 23rd, has been set at $43,300,000," said Fred E. Osborne, Chairman of the National War Finance Committee for the Province of Alberta, in an interview today. The objective in the Fifth and Sixth Loans was $7,000,000 in each case, the new objective representing an increase of approximately twenty-five per cent in the General Sales and Payroll Sections, and making the Seventh Victory Loan the largest financial undertaking ever accepted in this Province.

Asked to outline the reasons for this heavy increase, Mr. Osborne said that in previous Loans, the major requirements were for the training of personnel and providing a backlog of ammunition and supplies. Since "D" Day, however, the Armies of Canada have been engaged in actual combat; a much more costly phase of war than the preparation period. The demolition of supplies under such conditions is terrific and demands continuous flow from factory to boat, from boat to beachhead, from beachhead to the front line. Only by having too much there be enough to guard against exceptional pressure at unexpected points."

Mr. Osborne did not believe that the collapse of Germany would at all lessen the need for the greater financial effort of which Canadians are capable. Should chaos break out in Germany, an immense army of occupation would be required, and former enemy countries would have to be similarly patrolled. But the main reason was that the end of the European phase of the war would immediately see intensification of the war in the Pacific, beginning with the transportation of millions of men, and likewise millions of tons of equipment and supplies half-way around the world. Any feeling of complacency at this time due to the European situation would be most detrimental to our war effort, and, if given effect to, would undoubtedly unnecessarily prolong the war.

Chateau Frontenac Again World War Center

Within the massive walls of the Chateau Frontenac and nearby military installations, plans were laid over a year ago for the events which this year resulted in the invasion of Europe and its subsequent sweeping Victory Parade, marking the arrival of Franklin D. Roosevelt, along with their chiefs of staff both military and political, conferred with such success in Canada's oldest city that they are still and just a little over a year later. Today, plans have to do with final crushing of Nazi Europe, and the stamping-up of the next great task, elimination of the Japanese Empire, and world freedom.

It is a tribute to Canada and its people that this country has been chosen for the second victory, and the civilized world will await with patience and confidence the benefits that must surely accrue.

Research In Canada

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH HAS BEEN the means of opening many new possibilities to men; and has had far-reaching effects upon the course of history. Its importance is accentuated in modern warfare, when scientists are called upon not only to create new materials, but also to devise methods of dealing with the destructive forces of the enemy. While its role in wartime is often dramatic, the peacetime value of research is equally vital, and its contributions to civilian life are in many cases of greater and more lasting value. In recent years there have been interesting and important developments in the field of science, and the greater part of these are eventually adapted to serve for the good of all mankind.

Valuable Work Is Done Here

Most enlightened countries have, for many years, recognized the importance of research to general progress, and have encouraged their scientists to work in the interests of national development. Canada has organized this work through the National Research Council, with headquarters at Ottawa, and much valuable research has been done by that body on scientific problems of particular importance here. Canada is as yet a young nation, and the potentialities of her industries are still very great. There are undoubtedly many possibilities for the development of further uses of farm crops, and of the waste products from farms and industries, and it would be to the public interest to see that every encouragement is given to work of this kind.

Figures Show Small Outlay

At a recent meeting of the Canadian Institute of Public Relations, R. W. Boyle, chief of the Physics Division of the National Research Council, told the members of the Institute that Canada spends considerably less than Russia, Great Britain or the United States, on scientific research. Giving the per capita figures of the expenditures for these purposes in the countries mentioned, Mr. Boyle stated that in Russia the outlay is about $2.40; in the United States $1.80; in Britain 80 cents, while in Canada only 29 cents per capita per year is devoted to this purpose. Canadian universities provide facilities for excellent scientific training, and there is no lack of well-qualified research workers in the Dominion. It is apparent that we are far behind in the provision which we make for this important work, and an improvement along these lines could well be included in our plans for post-war development.

Made Supply Of Radium Possible During Siege Of Leningrad

During the blockade of Leningrad there was a shortage of life-saving radium for the front, according to the Soviet Information Service.

A building in which radium had been used for 20 years was thoroughly scraped, the plaster removed from the walls and ceilings and a considerable supply of radium extracted from the waste. The scientist responsible was awarded the Order of Red Banner of Labor.

Time Magazine Gives Space To Praise Of Canadian 1st Army

The 1st Canadian army drew 5½ columns of praise in a recent edition of Time magazine and the commander, Lt.-Gen. Crerar, entered the time reserves for the select few when a steel-helmeted head-and-shoulders picture of him appeared on the front page.

Told the of the Canadians' return to Dieppe, scene of the bloody Aug. 19, 1942, raid, the mapping-up of the robot bomb coast of France and of the Canadian victories at Caen and Falaise "where, in General Eisenhower's words, 'every piece of dust represented diamonds and every foot of ground was worth 10 miles elsewhere.'

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, said something at a luncheon honoring René Massigli, French Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, recently, that should be kept before every Canadian: "It's not too much to say that the fate of Europe depends in a large measure on how far you and we can work together. We need vision to see, faith to act and courage to persevere."

The British minister of health has a "white list" on which are recorded the towns which have no sun areas. There are 33 towns on the list at present.

The smallest owl is the elf, six inches long; the largest, the horned owl two feet long.

Not Wanted Here

Canadian Troops In Italy Know What Inflation Will Do

"See Naples and die" is an old saying. Although hundreds of Allied soldiers have seen Naples and are very much alive, a lot of them thought that they would pass out at the prices they had to pay for ordinary commodities.

The glare of Italy's sun is very hard on western eyes, yet soldiers were charged $6.50 to $9.00 for sun glasses that would cost a few cents at home. Two soldiers who were doing the town one day had to pay the following prices: two eggs 70 cents; bread 10 cents a slice; beef one dollar a portion; potatoes 20 cents; spaghetti 60 cents and so on. One man had a snack consisting of two eggs, chips, bread and red wine which cost him $1.70 and to add insult to injury, the soldier from Texas swore that his beef was "plain army mutton".

Before the Nazis left, able-bodied men were afraid to appear on the streets for fear of being deported to slave labour in Germany. Without any earnings their families had to live on meagre rations and high prices put most foods quite out of their reach.

Frice control is a sort of fence around the everyday business of buying and selling goods. As long as the fence holds strong, prices remain stable. The dollar's worth of a dollar's worth of tomatoes, street car tickets, telephone calls, stockings. But let ons slat of the fence be broken and through the resulting hole stability could escape. Prices would skyrocket. Right here in Canada this could happen. So make it one of your personal war assignments to see that this doesn't happen. Keep an eye on prices in your community, watch your own spending and saving to . . . that's what you're responsible for . . . your own community!—By Edna Jacques.

Demand For Salt

Production In Canada Reached New High Record Last Year

Recent figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that the production of sodium chloride or common salt in Canada reached a record high during 1943 in both quality and value of output. Six hundred and eighty-seven thousand, six hundred and eighty-six short tons were produced, valued at $4,379,378.

The market for salt in the Dominion is steadily increasing. Domestic production is sold principally to the dairy, meat curing and canning industries; fisheries; chemical industries; as table salt and to highway and transport departments for use as salt stabilizers.

The use of salt in soil stabilization for the foundation of highways and for a surface veneer for gravel roads has shown a marked increase in recent years. It has been used extensively also in the soil-stabilized bases for runways at Canadian airfields. Sand, piled each fall along main highways, remains loose and free-flowing even in the coldest weather when mixed with salt, thus allowing easy distribution on icy roadways.

The fellow who boasts he runs things in his house probably means the lawn mower, washing machine, vacuum cleaner, baby carriage and errands.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

AIDE TO CUPID

By MABEL G. SHELTON

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Granny, will you do me a favor?"

Beth Thomas looked appealingly at her grandmother, her blue eyes anxious.

Granny Bevins snorted. "And when did I ever refuse you one? But remember, I've got to get to that candlelight service at the church by six. It is something I can do before then?"

"Yes. It's—well, you see, Harvey Rudy is coming tonight, and I asked him for supper. If I just get things ready before you go . . . he says he's anxious to eat one of my meals, that he just knows I'm a wonderful cook—after living with you all these years."

Granny snorted again. "And you can't hold water without scorching the pan! Serve you right, missy. I've warned you about learning to cook."

"Oh, I will, Granny. Every girl learns when she gets engaged. But won't you help me out this time?"

Granny didn't like the sound of that "engaged," but she promised to cook the meal.

"You darling!" Beth kissed her wrinkled cheek. "Just leave everything ready for me to warm up at the last minute. I've got to run now!"

Granny thought about Harvey Rudy while she peeled the potatoes. She never had liked the thought of Beth's marrying him. Not that she could put her finger on anything especially wrong with the boy, but he just wasn't good enough for her lovely, golden-haired Beth. Of course he was a teller in the First National; but that didn't mean he was a getter. Probably never would be anything higher than a teller.

"Expressing my girl to slave for him," she grumbled. And here she was working her fingers to the bone, helping Beth to snare him.

Then an idea came to her. She thought over and decided it was pretty clever. "Wants to taste one of my meals," does he? Well, he'll never want to taste another one after this. And I won't be breaking my word, either. I said I'd cook supper, and cook it I will. I didn't say how I'd cook it."

MY HAT'S OFF TO YOUR BREAD!

It was a shame to do to perfectly good food what she did to that meal. The things that should have had sugar got salt, and vice versa. She put so much salaratus in the biscuits that they developed rusty spots when baked. She boiled the fresh green peas for a few minutes with baking soda. They came out a brilliant green, but hard as marbles. And she made the cream sauce lumpy.

But Granny was a thrifty soul and a good cook, and to spoil and waste like this hurt her conscience. "It's for the good of my girl," she kept telling herself. "She's not going to throw herself away if I can help it."

Finally the meal was ready. It looked delicious, but she knew how horrible everything would taste. "No man in his right mind would marry a girl who cooked like that," she quavered. That last bite of fruit salad flavored with salt instead of sugar had almost paralyzed her vocal chords.

She hurriedly changed her dress and set out for the church. The candlelight service had begun before she arrived.

"Here." Somebody thrust a candle and a slip of paper into her hands. "You'll be the last one. You just go to the front, read what's on this paper and light your candle from the big one."

Granny sank back in her seat with a sigh. Beth would just about now be warming up the vegetables. What a meal—dry, stringy pork, cake without any baking powder! Oh, it was a proper mess!

She dozed through the service. Someone nudged her and said it was time to light her candle. She went to the front of the room in a daze and opened her paper.

The lights were dim and she strained her eyes to see. "I will be faithful," she read falteringly, "and kind, and true. And hold ever before me the precepts of Right. I will be known for my loving mercy and kind deeds—" she broke off and glared at the congregation. "Cat's hind foot," she said loudly, "I can't read this thing. It wouldn't be right."

"Expressing my girl to slave for him," she called, "I am here." Both came flying down the stairs, her face glowing. "Oh, my, you've come. Harvey has to go, but look!" She held up her left hand and Granny caught the glint of a diamond. Her eyes fairly popped.

"We're engaged. And Harvey's been promoted to cashier. Isn't it thrilling?"

Granny tried twice before she could speak. "Did he like the surprise?"

Beth looked worried. "No, not exactly. Granny, I must be the world's worst cook. I spoiled all that lovely food somehow. You must begin right away to teach me to cook."

"But Harvey asked you to marry him, anyway."

Beth giggled. "Yes, and he was real sweet about the supper. He admitted it wasn't very good. But he said if it had been too good he'd have thought you cooked it. Isn't that rich?"

Granny was busy baking food into the garbage pail. "Rich is no word for it," she muttered.

REQUIRES A WITNESS

Mark Twain said even the cleverest and most perfect circumstantial evidence is likely to fail at fault after all, and therefore ought to be received with great caution. Take the case of any pencil sharpened by any woman; if you have witnesses, you will find it did it with a knife, but if you take simply the aspect of the pencil, you will say she did it with her teeth.

Romania has more than 9,500 square miles of beech forests, comprising about one-twelfth of the total area of the country.

The biggest crabs on earth—spider crabs, creatures with a 10-foot leg spread—are found in Japan.

SCHOOL LUNCHES

Nutritious, Attractive Noon Meal Necessary For The Younger Generation

By Laura C. Pepper, Chief Consumer Section, Domestic Dept. of Agriculture

Satched over shoulder and lunch pail in hand, sun-tanned and healthy after the long summer vacation, the younger generation has answered the call of the school bell.

Will Bill and Janie enjoy the same school health next March that they have now; or will the roses fade from their cheeks and listlessness replace September's joyous vitality? Lift the lid of the lunch pail and look inside, for there lies a clue to the answer.

Educational and health authorities fully realize the importance of the school lunch. They know only too well that the kind of lunch a child eats throughout the school year has a definite bearing on the marks on his report card, his attendance record and his capacity to learn.

The Nutrition Division, Ottawa, stresses the importance of including three types of food in every lunch box; milk, a fruit or vegetable and a building food like meat, eggs, cheese, fish or beans.

Easy to carry and popular with the children, sandwiches are generally the mainstay of the carried lunch and their filling may supply either the "building" food or the vegetable "must". It isn't difficult to keep sandwiches interesting, even as daily fare. Such simple devices as changing the shape, from squares to triangles or fingers, or combining a slice of white with a slice of brown bread in the same sandwich can be surprisingly effective. But sandwiches must taste as well as look interesting and that depends on the filling . . . be sure to spread it generously.

Mother will like these suggestions for filling from the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture because they are quickly and easily prepared. The children will like them too, for they definitely appeal to the taste of the youngsters.

Sandwich Fillings

Add salt, pepper and sliced dressing to these fillings where needed for flavor: Chopped ham, meat or cheese. Chopped egg—Hard-cook or scramble the egg and combine with any of these—chili sauce, diced celery, grated cheese, shredded raw spinach, pickled onions, mustard.

Mixed left-over cooked meat—Add one or more of the following: grated onion, chopped celery or parsley, chili sauce, sweet or mustard.

Cooked, minced liver—Especially good with grated raw carrot or with chopped celery. Sometimes add a little relish or marmalade.

Cottage cheese—Ring the changes with any one of the following: shredded lettuce, chopped parsley, cheese, mayonnaise, diced pickle, onions—Shredded parsley, pickles or chili sauce.

Cottage cheese, vegetables—Use one kind or several. Add grated cheese and sliced dressing.

Chopped cabbage—Good with grated raw carrot or turnip. Extra good when few carrots are available.

Pasta—Bologna or weiners, 2 tablespoons chopped pickles, 1½ teaspoons vinegar from pickles, ¼ cup mayonnaise, cheese, onions, lettuce, 1½ teaspoons spicy meat sauce, ¼ cup ground raw carrot, 2 tablespoons chopped celery. Grind bologna; add other ingredients and mix well. Makes 1½ cups filling.

CLEVER HORSE

A 33-year-old horse who got skittish several minutes before flying bombs approached was champion "spotter" of a southern England town. During the blitz days, claims his driver, the horse could tell the difference between British and German planes.

In walking a mile, a man takes about 2,263 steps.

MUFFINS CAN HELP KEEP YOU "REGULAR"

Yes—by eating several delicious muffins each day, you will eat less, drink plenty of water and can help prevent constipation due to lack of bulk in your diet!

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN MUFFINS
 2 cups flour      1 cup bran
 1 cup sugar      1 cup sifted flour
 1 cup water      ½ teaspoon salt
 1 cup oil      2 eggs
 1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran cereal
 Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk; add flour with salt and baking powder; add first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin tins full and bake moderately hot (400°F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 8 large muffins.

ROMANIA: Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada. Your grocer has it in 2 convenient sizes.

Greatest Pilot

Named as "probably the greatest bomber pilot of any air force in the world," Wing Cmdr. Geoffrey L. Cheshire, above, of the British Royal Air Force, has been awarded the Victoria Cross, Britain's highest award for gallantry. Cmdr. Cheshire, who is 27, also holds the Distinguished Service Order with two bars (equivalent to winning it three times) and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Erie Type Of Warfare

Selne Area Was Very Quiet After Fighting In Normandy.

The comparatively quiet, push across the Seine was an eerie type of warfare after the days in Normandy when the guns were going all the time and week after week you drove the same roads, saw the same places and got to know by sight practically all the civilians in the district.

If you got off the main roads in the Seine area you could sometimes drive a mile or two hardly seeing any sign of life. The jeep motor and the friction of its tires on the asphalt road were often the only sounds.

Dozens of areas criss-crossed the Canadian area winding through silent forests and though all the unused ones had been checked for mines and patrolled for enemy, some remained untouched and you could drive along without seeing any evidence of the war.

Sometimes on these roads, a dispatch rider taking a short cut or a lone jeep would be shot at by a German straggler hiding. Even a few German tank crews were cut off in these out-of-the-way places.

On other deserted lanes concealed by woods you found the wreckage of German vehicles sought out in their shadowed hiding places and surreptitious routes to the Seine by Typhoon pilots who must have been hawk-eyed to find them.

ABOUT THE THINGS YOU BUY IN WARTIME

The sugar situation is NOT sweet

FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE SUGAR CANADA CONSUMES HAS TO BE IMPORTED

This map shows where Canada, Great Britain and the United States got their sugar in the good old days of peace. Our three countries take practically all the exportable sugar from these major sugar-exporting areas.

But supplies have either been cut off by enemy occupation of the country—as in the case of Java and the Philippines—or their production radically reduced by shortage of workers, as in the case of Hawaii, Porto Rico, Australia, Trinidad, Fiji.

ROLLING ON SUGAR

The war has brought some unusual demands on the United Nations' sugar pool. Vast quantities of sugar are being used for making industrial explosives, in the manufacture of pyrotechnics (fireworks) as well as T.N.T. and smokeless powder. For instance, the explosive to fill five 16-inch shells requires as much sugar as

Even the production of beet sugar in Canada and the United States has been drastically cut by labour shortage. In both countries the '43 sugar beet crop was forty per cent less than '41. The only country to show an important increase is Cuba, where output had for years been deliberately restricted. But its increase has not been sufficient to offset the losses elsewhere—let alone meet the increased demand.

DO WE NEED MORE SUGAR?

A century ago the whole world didn't consume as much sugar as Canada does today. Our sweet tooth has been required in quite recent times. Sugar rates high for its energy value, but starch is a good substitute.

THE SUPPLY IS SHARED

All sugar supplies are pooled and under the control of the Combined Food Board of the United Nations, which allocates supplies to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform basis.

WE'RE LIVING ON OUR SUGAR CAPITAL

At the time of "Pearl Harbour" the United Nations had a reserve stock-pile of about 3 million tons, but for the last 3 years we've been using more than has been produced—and dipping heavily into "reserve." Liberated nations will have to dip in too. Extra good crops could improve the situation, but greatly increased supplies are not in sight. If current consumption keeps up, we could be very short of sugar next year. We must do the utmost to conserve our supplies.

RATIONING WAS STARTED BECAUSE OF SHORTAGE OF SHIPS. IT MUST BE CONTINUED BECAUSE WORLD STOCKS ARE DEFICIENT

TIME BOMBS

Peace will bring the problems of reconverting women in industry—not to the drudgery of housework but to the art of homemaking.

It is not enough to state a need unless we point the answer.

We try to solve too many problems by putting our heads together when the real solution is to open our hearts.

No one who makes his greatest contribution who works alone.

Some wives think their husbands ought to make more money—others think they ought to do better with the money their husbands make.

It is easier to criticise our country's leadership than to create it.

The cure for being "all in" is to go "all out."
